
A PERSONAL VISION:

Space, Lights, Colors and People.

Shooting with FULVIO BUGANI

Rome, Italy - 14-17 October 2018

Be part of a Masterclass Workshop with Leica Ambassador and World Press Photo awarded photographer Fulvio Bugani, known for his colorful images full of complexity.

If you ever wanted to learn how to shoot meaningful color images, which is some kind of an art, this is the right workshop for you. In this 4 days workshop Fulvio Bugani will convey how to develop a personal vision and the learning of advanced techniques on the interpretation of light, the use of shadows, the complexity of the composition and the coexistence of different planes in the image

This workshop, organized by Leica Store Indonesia, is designed to give maximum experience for creative photographers who are interested in discovering the city of Rome, in a completely new amazing way.

Not only Rome is an hustle-bustle city full of life, but is is also a home to many world heritage sites, which will be the perfect settings for your shooting.

The workshop has an intensive hands-on program, and includes daily group meetings and one-to-one session with Fulvio Bugani who will closely guide every participant pushing each one further.

About Fulvio Bugani:

Fulvio Bugani started working as a photographer in 1995. After a close collaboration with major photo studios of Bologna, he founded his own studio in 1999 – Foto Image.

Bugani has been a freelance professional photographer for over 20 years, working with associations and NGOs.

Among other recognitions, in 2015 he was awarded at the World Press Photo, for his work about Indonesian Transgender. While in 2016 his reportage about Cuba was selected as one of the 12 finalists at the Leica Oskar Barnack Award.

He has been chosen by Leica as its International Leica Ambassador for Leica M10, and has worked for important international brand and artists.
